THE RED RIVER COUNTRY.

TIP.

Having heard so much about the "Red River of the North," one would imagine it equal to the James, the York, or the St. John, but it is no greater in appearance than the Kentucky River. It is a narrow, shallow, quiet stream that flows north through a country so level that you can scarcely tell which way the river runs. The bottoms are five to twenty miles wide on each side of the river, are ten to forty miles across, and break up into a healthy undulating country that extends hundreds of miles away. The river and its tributaries lie principally in Minnesota and Dakota, and drain an area of 30,000 square miles, or 25,000,000 acres.

North Minnesota and North Dakota are the most beautiful portions of the two countries. The eastern portion of Minnesota abounds with pine timber, but west of that timber is exceedingly scarce. In fact it is found only along the rivers and around the lakes. The vast bottom of Red River is level as a parlor floor, but not swampy. Anywhere ten thousand acres can be staked off, and a depression one foot lower than the general level can not be found. Grass grows everywhere, and grows naturally. Gullies and unsightly bare places are not known. Corn will not grow because the season is too short. Wheat is the principal crop. Wheat is to that country what cotton is to Georgia, oranges to Florida, bananas to Maryland and sugar to Louisiana.

The farmer has a wonderfully easy time. He has no corn to plant, thin, plow, cut, shock, shell, &c., and that relieves him of half his hard work. He has no slaves to build, briars to cut, stones to pull, or rocks to remove. He rides to plow, rides to sow, rides to reap and to mow. He threshes his wheat without stacking, and hauls to the railroad without housing. Every station has its elevator, or several of them.

If a man has stock he fences off a small pasture in which to keep them. But he doesn't need any stock more than a few cows and horses.

The country is filling up rapidly. Railroads are increasing at an astonishing log rate. The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba system has this year built seven hundred miles of road. It now has two thousand miles in Minnesota and Dakota, and several hundred in Montana. I traveled down and up the Red River, and away West into Montana, besides making other journeys. At every station there were evidences of new cities. An air of uplift pervades the entire country. There are no evidences of distillation, and none of ill-health.

One of the finest countries I ever saw was in the Devils Lake region. The lake is a grand body of salt water sixty or seventy miles long, and five to twenty broad. It is one of the most beautiful bodies of water in the world. Surrounded with trees, it has a fine range of timbered mountains on the south side, and all around a grand country, undulating and rich. The town of Devils Lake is situated on the north side, and is a delightful place of several thousand people. One of the best equipped and most prosperous looking newspaper offices I have ever seen is in the town of the lake. The Devils Lake Inter-Ocean. On the south side is the town of Minnekaux, and two steamers, one rather large, ply between the towns. Fort Totten is also south of the lake. The Indians have a tradition that in the long ago two hostile tribes engaged in battle on the lake in their canoes. During the battle, the Devil came up out of the water and scooped him up. They then called the lake Minnekaux, which means Devil water, hence the name—Devils Lake. I visited Lake Minnetonka, Pewaukee and Okauchic along the way, and think Devils Lake much more attractive than any of the others.

Among the residents of Devils Lake I found Mr. William Stuart and his son, Mr. George Stuart, both formerly of Clark county, Ky. The senior Stuart was a brother to the late S. G. Stuart, Sheriff of Clark. They are charmed with Dakota, and expect never to return to Kentucky. George Stuart weighed one hundred and thirty pounds when he went to Dakota, three years ago, and now weighs two hundred and twenty.

At Argyle in north Minnesota, I saw the farm of Mr. Ramsey. It contains thirty thousand acres, and is all in wheat. Mr. Ramsey is a son of the Earl of Malmesbury, or some such a name, and married Miss Garrison of New York, a great-granddaughter of Capt. James Edill, the famous pioneer of Madison county, Ky. Mr. Ramsey has an older brother who is a Lord and member of Parliament, but has no children, and some day I shall expect to see a great-grandson-in-law of Madison county a Lord and member of Parliament.

The Ryan farm, further up the river, contains forty thousand acres. Mr. Ryan lives in St. Paul, and looks strikingly like St. Paul Langford of Clays Ferry.

Away out at Fort Buford, 1,500 miles from Richmond, I met a Mr. Crofton, son of the commander of the fort. When I inquired of him from Kentucky, he asked what place, and when I said Richmond, he instantly asked, "do you know Will Bill?" "What's his other name?" I asked. "Phelps," he said; "I knew him out east at Andover College." I knew he must have meant our George, and informed him accordingly.

I traveled sixteen hundred miles in Minnesota and Dakota, and I never found such agreeable railroad men on any system as those of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba road. From General Passenger Agent, C. H. Warren, and his chief clerk, Mr. W. H. Connor, on down, they are a royal lot. There's Mr. W. D. Scott, conductor between Barnevise and St. Vincent—a hundred miles or more. He answered all the thousand and one questions I asked and that in the most intelligent and pleasant way, and turned me over to the Manitoba conductor with a wish that he could carry me to Winnipeg.

And there's Mr. T. E. Driscoll, who is run between the growing electric-light-water-works-built town of Crookston, Minn., and the far western town of Minn. in the Missouri River country. Driscoll would sit up every night in the week to accommodate a friend, and not consider it any hardship. I should not forget Mr. Birkhead, who runs between Laramie and Castleton. He is a walking encyclopedia of Dakota information, and impresses it with grace and politeness.

Cold? Yes. The thermometer doesn't hesitate to creep down into the thirties and forties, and sometimes into the fifties below zero. But it is a dry quiet. When it freezes up in November it remains dry and frozen all winter. There is no mud, and no slush, and there are no sudden changes. Heavier boots are worn in Kentucky than in Dakota. Besides that a man has nothing to do but stay in the house.

The river runs about 3 o'clock, and sets about 9 o'clock, in June; but in December it gets even by rising at 9 and setting at 3. The northern boundary of Dakota and Minnesota is 49 degrees North Latitude, or 12 degrees north of Richmond. Heavy fur coats are worn in winter.

I met an accommodation gentleman at Fort Buford. I refer to Mr. G. W. Hedderley, the Post Trader. He loaned me his Winchester rifle and gave me all the cartridges I wanted. I walked fourteen miles and killed a raven sixty yards off hand, but it was the only respectable shot I made that day. Game is exceedingly scarce. I saw a drove parade and heard the excellent military band at the fort. Fort Buford is on the upper Missouri River at the mouth of the famous Yellowstone, and on the line between Dakota and Montana.

Mr. A. C. Sine shipped Wednesday, a poplar tree that he bought from Mr. George T. McArthur's knob place near town, which he says is the largest tree he ever handled. It was 55 inches at the butt and there were six cuts ranging from 8 to 14 feet long. There were 8,664 feet of lumber in them and Mr. Sine received over $17 for the giant as it stood in the forest.—St. Paul Journal.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

THEY UNDERSTAND THEIR PRESIDENT. Clevelandian.

The President's little speeches seem to please the people.

EASY TO SAY. Poughkeepsie News-Press.

Mr. Blaine is reported to have said that he wouldn't accept the Presidency as a gift. That is easy to say. No class of people now living intends to make him a gift of the Presidency.

OLD'S PRIZE IDIOT. Chicago Herald.

Foraker, of Ohio, is nothing if not an ass, but his previous performances in the line of assiduity have been quite outdone by his conduct since his return from the Constitutional Convention at Philadelphia.

CAN THIS BE TRUE? Sioux City Times.

The Salvation Army will set apart one night this week when prayers will be offered for the salvation of the numerous Sioux City people who are living together as man and wife but who are not married.

FOREIGN ANARCHISTS. Foreign Register.

Look over the list of Anarchists who are braying in behalf of the Chicago murderers; look over the list of the men who are threatening to subvert American law and destroy American institutions—not a native born American will you find.

PROFIT AND PATRIOTISM. St. Louis Republic.

President Cleveland's advice to business men not to neglect the duties of self-government is sound and patriotic; but when a man's time gets to be worth from $10 to $100 an hour it is hard to induce him to bestow much of it on his country.

KEEPING QUIET. Equipter.

New York City has been investigating her "Children's Home," and found, among other things, that these had been a free use of liquor to spoil today infants. One of seven years and one of three are said to have been found in a state of complete intoxication, lying on the floor. It is hardly possible to comment on a case of that character in deprecating language. It is enough to state it.

THE DIFFERENCE. Omaha World.

Omaha (In New York)—What are all these men doing in New York City? "New York City—That's a bucket-shop." "What's that?" "They buy and sell stocks there on margins same as they do in the Exchange." "O! it's another Exchange, eh?" "No, it's a bucket-shop." "Well, how do you tell the difference?" "Why, one is a great big building and the other is a little bit of a one."

HYPOCRITICAL WAITING. Detroit Free Press.

The one expenditure which seems to weigh the most on the minds of the people is the cost of $1,000,000 or thereabouts, expended in collecting the internal revenue. Mr. Sherman can hardly speak of it without tears in his eyes for the poor, defrauded people; and even Mr. Kelley, notwithstanding his familiarity with iron, finds his heart soft and his voice husky as he refers to the liability of imposing this burden on the people.

DEMOCRATIC EDITORS. Waterloo Observer.

There was no editorial annex to the Democratic convention at Saratoga yesterday, such as was conceived and carried out at the Republican convention. Democratic editors do not get together to combine under an iron oath to support their ticket. They will do it heartily without any coercion, and consequently do not require such an organization as their Republican brethren entered into.

TARIFF. New York Star.

The Atlantic Constitution is making a serious mistake in trying to put Senator Colpitt out of the party because he is a free trader. If he persists in this policy Mr. Howell will be apt to find that he has got hold of a boom-crane. The people are getting tired of paying taxes on the necessities of life for the sake of enriching rich manufacturers, and are turning up their noses at the Treasury, which only serves to unsettle the financial condition of the country.

THE BASE BALL BROTHERRHOOD. Baltimore American.

Base-ball is unquestionably the great national game. People from one end of the country to the other are interested in it. Thousands of dollars are invested in it. Nothing will insure its permanent hold on popularity so successfully as a scheme that will improve the person of the players and give them adequate financial protection. The Brotherhood is the practical embodiment of this purpose. Its intention is to reach further than the mere question of salaries and to secure more respectability among the men. This is one of the great points in its favor.

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANS AND CHEAP WHISKY. Philadelphia Record.

In the same platform in which the Republicans of Massachusetts recommended a repeal of the Internal Tax on whisky they resolve in favor of substituting an amendment to prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors. While they are devoted to the cause of temperance and the encouragement of all other virtues, they would rather drench Massachusetts with cheap whisky than permit any interference with a tariff system which enables the manufacturer to compete to make dear the clothing, blankets, linens and other necessities of the people.

AN EXPERIMENT WITH A GUILLOTINED HEAD. Science.

The superstition that human beings should sleep with their heads to the North is believed by the French to have its foundation in scientific fact. They affirm that each human system is in itself an electric battery, the head being one of the electrodes, the feet the other. Their proof was discovered from experiments which the Academy of Sciences was allowed to make on the body of a man who was guillotined. This was taken the moment it fell and placed upon a pivot, free to move as it might. The head part, after a little vacillation, turned to the North, and the body then remained stationary. It was turned half way round by one of the professors, and again the head end of the trunk moved slowly to the cardinal point due North, the same results being repeated until the final cessation of organic movement.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND. Philadelphia Exporter (Rep).

The visit of the President of the United States to Philadelphia revealed to those of his fellow-citizens with whom he was brought into personal contact the man whom they knew from the portraits of him with which they were familiar, whether drawn by pen or pencil, did not denote him truly. There are fine, noble lines of intellectuality and feeling in his face, which the portraits have not given; he has characteristics of the local and local which have not been shown by the portraits. After seeing this mentally strong, bright man, it is fully to talk of his having achieved his present high position by mere accident, chance or luck. He achieved it by the possession and use of remarkable abilities, and by the thought, system, and system all go to make up the popularity of Philadelphia.

ALL SHOPS AND CLOTHING DEPARTMENTS IN FAVOR THIS SEASON. We intend to make this Department a great measure of our cash and credit. Do not think of buying a Coat or Jacket until you have seen our stock and heard prices for cheapness.

THE RECORD BEATERS.—With the splendid name this house has for selling notions cheap, this season will eclipse all past experience. We will display the grandest assortment of handkerchiefs, hosiery, ties, gloves, and the thousand other articles useful and beautiful that can be found in any city. It is a fairy-land itself. Come and look, even if you need nothing. We study day and night how much we can give our customers for a dollar.

THE CARPET DEPARTMENT has been greatly enlarged and added to. The prettiest patterns and lowest prices ever heard of. You can carpet every room in the house for what it used to cost to carpet one. Everybody is most cordially and earnestly invited to visit us and see the many attractions displayed, whether wishing to buy or not.

With thanks for past encouragement, we are gratefully, yours to command,

THE CLIMAX.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1887.

The trial now expires to-morrow.

Mr. Tom Tibbels of the firm of Tibbels & Mount, is sick with fever.

Col. T. S. Moberley's herd of Short-horns received all the first prizes at the Owensboro Fair last week.

Common Pleas Court is in session. Judge Thomas J. Scott presiding. There are 175 cases on the docket.

Mr. B. F. Watts, of Fayette county, formerly of this place, is now in this county in the interest of a nursery.

About thirty young people from Richmond and vicinity went out to Col. R. E. Smith's on last Friday and danced all day.

Adam Hill, an excellent blacksmith, who once lived at Elliston, this county, was the grandfather of Mrs. Jesse James. Mrs. James has a large number of relatives in the county.

W. P. Harvey, Jr., son of Rev. W. P. Harvey, Sr., of the Presbyterian church, and who has several times preached in Richmond, shot and killed James Coleman, at Harrodsburg, last week.

The fine old Estill place of 400 acres that has been in the family for more than a century, was sold at public sale last Wednesday, but was bought by Mr. Robert Estill of Missouri, at $90 per acre, this continuing in the family.

Mr. John L. Smith, the exceedingly lively clerk who used to return the desk at the Garrett House, is now manager of the St. James Livery and Sale Stables, Jacksonville, Florida, the largest and finest livery stable in the South.

Sorrow's crown of sorrow seems to have fallen upon Hon. W. T. Tevis, of Richmond, one of the best of the good citizens of Madison county. Less than three months ago occurred the death of his young wife to whom he had been but a short time married. Yesterday his bright little ten-year-old son was thrown from a horse and killed—Courier-Journal 18th.

Sold to the Governor. Mr. John W. Fox sold in Lexington on last Friday, to His Excellency, Governor Simon Bolivar Buckner, a pair of two-year-old geldings, 16 hands high, for sale. They are brown, are perfectly healthy, sound, and Gen. Buckner is the best equipped Governor in the way of his horses that the State has had since the war.

A Faithful Few. The receipt by Mrs. Cannell of $2,000 the amount of a policy held by her husband, the late J. B. Cannell, as a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, reminds us to say that there were once a lodge of that order here, but it was discontinued several years ago. There are now only three members of it here, John Taylor, Green B. Toney and R. L. Gentry.

Plowing Mill Purchased. Messrs. J. B. Esau and E. W. Wiggins have bought the Richmond Plowing Mill, and began rounding up horses. The price was $12,000, but about $4,000 worth of horses were resold on the grounds, reducing the purchase to $8,000. The original cost of the property was $15,000.

A Bear in Jail. A Hungarian named Duffley was coming from Winchester to Lexington—Winchester's team has satisfied you know—with a pet bear, and scared Mr. Luther Dyer's horse making it run away and tear up things. Mr. Dyer followed the couple to Richmond, had them arrested and lodged in jail for having committed a nuisance. They were brought before the City Court and released on the principle that if the bear had not scared at the horse, run away and busted up Mr. Dyer's horse, Duffley would not have been responsible, therefore Duffley was not responsible.

Operatory. The first surgical operation ever performed in this county, for the removal of an ovarian tumor, so far as we can learn, was one in Richmond a week ago today. The patient was Miss Martha Smith, of this county, and she is recovering beyond the most sanguine expectation. If such cases terminate fatally, as they frequently do, the limit is forty-eight hours. The tumor weighed forty pounds. The operation was performed by Doctors Foster, Taylor, and Jennings. The patient was one of Dr. Foster's, and he called to his assistance the other gentlemen. There would doubtless have been entered a serious protest by the trio, if they had known their names were to appear in connection with the case, as it is considered unprofessional, but we take the liberty because they deserve vast praise for undertaking and successfully performing so rare and hazardous a performance.

"In Parter Parts." Mr. French Tipton, editor of THE CLIMAX, Richmond, Kentucky, made The International an agreeable call on Monday last. Mr. Tipton was on his first visit to the North-western States and being at the banquet concluded to run over to see his old friend, the "domain lord" like. He is immensely pleased with the Red River Valley and thinks his readers will accuse him of Muehausenian when they read his accounts of the prairie country and the vast wheat fields to be seen here.

Residence in the famous Blue-grass region, he speaks of the colored horses and great runners and trotters. He is an exceedingly pleasant and well informed gentleman, with a pleasing Southern accent that travel and intercourse with the Northerners since the war has failed to efface. Like most Southerners, he speaks of the colored people as "niggers," but unlike many looks upon the future of that class and despised race as rather brighter than in former years, and reports that they are making fair progress in education and other matters. Mr. Tipton was in the Gateway City. He left on Monday for a trip over the Mississippi extension as far as Fort Belvoir, Montana—Manitou International.

Handicraft Extraneous.

Mr. J. J. Brooks has a fine and varied collection of Seely's handicraft extraneous at 25 cents to $5.00 per bottle. He orders in $150 lots, which is large even for a city lot.

Killed by Accident.

On last Friday afternoon, Cyrus Tevis, eleven year old son of ex-representative W. T. Tevis, was riding horseback on the Caldwell place, about two miles from town, on the Barnes Hill. The horse leaped a ditch, and his foot slipping through the stirrup leather—he was riding his father's saddle and had his feet in the leathers—he fell off and was dragged nearly a hundred yards. A colored man and a small son of Mr. Douglas who were with him, ran to him but he was dead. The shot was broken and he was considerably lacerated about the head and breast. He was small and delicate. The burial occurred in the cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Tevis seems to have been in a line of distressing luck, and is entitled to great sympathy. He lost his young wife, then their infant, and now follows the sad death of a son.

MATRIMONIAL.

Mr. William Tucker, Green, of Bluffton, Georgia, and Miss Naomie Todd, daughter of Mrs. N. G. Todd, of the Concord vicinity, Madison county, Ky., were married at the home of the bride at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday, October 13th, 1887. Elder Milton Elliott, of Kirksville, officiated. Only a few relatives and friends were present. A nice supper was spread immediately after the ceremony. The couple left on Monday and will take in the Atlanta Fair on their way home. Mr. Tucker is a prominent planter and merchant in south-western Georgia. He came here a year ago to visit Mr. Cyrus T. Wells and buy a lot of mules for his plantation, met Miss Todd, quite a pretty and attractive girl, and the acquaintance resulted in above set forth.

DIED.

Virgiline, infant daughter of B. and Ada Jowett, died at her home in Richmond, Ky., on Monday, October 17th, 1887.

Sally Doty, daughter of Dr. J. V. Doty, died of croup at the home of her parents in Fort Worth, Texas, on Saturday, October 8th, in the 7th year of her age. This is the second daughter that has died since the removal of the parents from this county to Fort Worth.

Mrs. Eliza Smith died at the home of her son, John Speed Smith, in Richmond, Ky., on Friday, October 14th, 1887, in the 92nd year of her age. The funeral occurred from the Baptist church on Monday, and the burial in the Richmond cemetery. Mrs. Smith was the mother of Rev. Green Clay Smith, Dr. C. C. Smith, Hon. J. Speed Smith, Mrs. Talbot, of Tennessee, and Mrs. David S. Goodloe, of Lexington, the last named being the mother of Hon. Wm. Cassius Goodloe, ex-Minister to Belgium, Maj. Green Clay Goodloe, of the Marine service, son-in-law of Senator James B. Beck, Dr. David S. and Judge Saced S. Goodloe. Mrs. Smith had six other children. She was the sister of Gen. Cassius M. Clay, ex-Minister to Russia, the late Hon. Thomas Clay, of Bourbon, and Mrs. Pauline Rodes, deceased, of Madison county. She had five other brothers and sisters. She was the widow of the late Hon. John Speed Smith, member of Congress, and daughter of Green Clay, Brigadier General in the war of 1862.

Mrs. Smith was a native of Madison county, a member of the Baptist church, and retained her faculties of sight, hearing and speech to her last day. She was an accomplished woman, and until recently when wheeled up to the piano in her invalid chair, played with skill many of the pieces she learned three quarters of a century ago.

THIN COLUMN.

"A Fat Man's Misery," by Col. Jim Brooks, is the title of a new book soon to be issued.

A man sat up all night, but forgot about it next day, and as he felt dreadfully stupid and out of fix generally, he consulted a physician. A dose of sleep was prescribed.
